Forwarding a Port for a server

Start

Are you on windows?

No — Are you on Mac?

No — Are you on Linux?

Yes — Press windows key+ R

Mac branch (Yes):

Open the Terminal

Type in "ifconfig"

Look for "en0"

Look under "en0" for "inet"

Save the ip address after "inet" some where accessible

Windows branch:

type in the window "cmd" and press enter

In comand prompt tpye in "ipconfig"

Look for the IPv4 address

Save the address somewhere accessible

Linux branch (Yes):

Open the Terminal

Type in "ip addr"

Look for "inet"

Save the ip address somewhere accessible

Common flow:

Open your browser

Type in "192.168.1.1"

Type in your username and password

Look for a Port forwarding option

Add a Port

Type in your chosen port ex. 27015

Type in your saved local IP address

Save

Stop